Big Chief Will Make a Talk to the Executive Committee To-day-Decides to Start on Friday With Murphy for Kansas City-Sulzer's Pocketful of Running Mates.

Mr. Croker had another busy day yesterday talking to the members of Tammany Hall. He has been at work ever since his arrival in this country on Saturday morning trying to find out what the exact situation within the ranks of the organization is. He has seen practically all the heads of the City Government, from Mayor Van Wyck down, all the Tammany Assem bly district leaders and other men not the public eye on whom he relies for unbiased statements as to what has been going on. He had a long talk with John F. Carroll yesterday afternoon at Tammany Hall. Early callers at the Democratic Club missed Mr. Croker because he had gone to his office at 111 Broadway, where he met ex-Senator Murphy of Troy, who went with him to luncheon at the Café Savarin

It may be said here that Senator Murphy is not a candidate for Vice-President. On Sunday evening when it was reported to Mr. Croker that a Murphy boom had been started Mr. Croker said that Mr. Murphy was a good man, and thereupon it was reported at once that Mr. and thereupon it was reported at once that Mr. Murphy was Mr. Croker's candidate. But it was said positively last evening that Mr. Murphy and no Vice-Presidential ambition.

Mr. Croker has made a change in his plans. This afternoon there will be a meeting of the Tammany Executive Committee, at which he will be present. The meeting is called to make final arrangements for the excursion of the Tammany braves to Kansas City. It was said last evening that Mr. Croker would make a little talk to the committee, in which he would tell its members to be loyal to Bryan and the Chicago platform and to let every one they met in Kansas City know of their loyalty. It was declared yesterday that Mr. Croker is a strong 18 to 1 man now, that while he was laid up in Wantage with a broken leg, he read up on the money question, reading the speeches of Col. Bryan and of Arthur J. Balfour, and was converted to Col. Bryan's belief in 16 to 1. It may be said authoritatively that no effort will he made by Tammany Hall at Kansas City to secure a modification of the Chicago platform.

Ex-Senator Hill, who is one of the Big Four from this State, is going to start on Friday for Kansas City with Chairman Danforth of the State. Executive Committee. It is Mr. Hill's purpose to have the Chicago platform modified if possible in its currency plank. It was declared last night that he would get no help from Mr. Croker. Mr. Croker, it was said, believes that Col. Bryan would lose more votes by dropping 18 to 1 than he could possibly gain. It was reported last night that in conversation with a Tammany Congressman who voted for the Republican Gold Standard bill at the last session of Congress Mr. Croker had made this remark:

"You have got to get in line to shout for Bryan and 16 to 1, or else you will not be a Democrat."

After talking to the Executive Committeemen at Tammany Hall Mr. Croker will go to the Murphy was Mr. Croker's candidate.

Bryan and 16 to 1, or else you will not be a Democrat.

After talking to the Executive Committeemen at Tammany Hall Mr. Croker will go to the club once more and spend the evening there. He hopes to go to-morrow to Senator Murphy's summer home and to spend Thursday there resting. Mr. Croker's physicians have told him that sea bathing will be good for his injured leg, and there is excellent bathing near Senator Murphy's summer home. Mr. Croker wants to stay in Long Branch until Friday afternoon when he will start for Kansas City. It was his intention to start on Saturday morning, but his plans have been changed, and he, Senator Murphy Dr. Cosby and Andrew Freedman will go to Kansas City in a private car attached to the train leaving Jersey City over the Pennsylvania Railrond at5.50 o'clock on Friday afternoon. They will arrive in Kansas City at 7 o'clock on Sunday morning. Arrangements for this trip were made yesterday by East River Bridge Commissioner James Boyle, who will go on the train to which the private car is attached.

The big Tammany delegation will leave over the Central in a special train which will start at accepts of the start at a selection of the club of the contral to a special train which will start at a checker on Stunday morning. Another delegation will start at a checker on Stunday morning.

who will go on the train to which the private car is attached.

The big Tammany delegation will leave over the Central in a special train which will start at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning. Another delegation will start in a train over the Pennsylvania, leaving Jersey City at 9:40 o'clock on Sunday morning. The Kings county delegation has made a contract with the Delaware and Lackawanna for a special train, which will leave Jersey City at the same time as the train over the Pennsylvania. The managers of the D. L. & W. have made a contract with the Kings county people that they will get fhem into Kansas City two hours ahead of the Tammany crowd. which goes over the Pennsylvania. The Tammany crowd expects that when the Pennsylvania managers hear of this they will put on an extra engine and run the Tammany special as a lightning express.

Tammany crowd which goes over the Pennsylvania. The Tammany crowd expects that when the Pennsylvania managers hear of this they will put on an extra engine and run the Tammany special as a lightning express.

Augustus Van Wyck will start for Kansas City on Wednesday. Congressman Sulzer will go on Wednesday. It was said last night that Mr. Sulzer would take a message to Col. Bryan asking him in the name of Tammany Hall whether he had any preference among New York men for candidate for Vice-President. Mr. Sulzer will be in communication with the Democratic leader before the convention, whether he goes to Lincoln to see him or not.

Mr. Croker's presence at the Democratic Club resulted in a big attendance of members last night. There were four Vice-Presidental possibilities there, viz.: O. H. P. Belmont, Congressman Sulzer, Elliot Danforth and Dr. John H. Girdner. All of them shook hands with Mr. Croker. Col. Lovejoy of Alabams, who is J. O. Tomlinson's law partner, and one of the strong silver men in this State, dropped in to pay his respects to Mr. Croker, N. F. Merriam, the Mayor of Gallipolis, Ohio, was there, and he shook hands; and Mr. Croker had a long talk with John J. Pallas, a labor man.

It was noticeable last night that the talk about Mr. Croker depocing John F. Carroli had nearly died out. Everybody seemed to think that Mr. Carroll's management of Tammany Hall would be approved by Mr. Croker and that there would be no radical changes in the organization. Another noticeable thing was the fact that Mr. Croker, Mayor Van Wyck and all of the leaders and tollowers who were at the club were in excellent humor. Mr. Croker said he was feeling fine and his appearance sustained his words. He laughed heartily when a clipping from a London newspaper was shown to him, in which it was alleged that in 1898 he had planned to set this country at war with England through the influence of the Irish in the belief that a civil war in this country would iollow and that he was focing from the London paper made him out to be

RICHMOND, Va., June 25 .- Senator John W Daniel's name will, it now seems, be presented to the Kansas City Convention when it con siders candidates for Vice-President. He is sincere in desiring that some other person than himself be placed on the ticket with Bryan, but he will accept if nominated.

Mr. Daniel really prefers to remain upon the floor of the Senate. In the first place, he has not the wealth to entertain as lavishly as is ex-pected of the Vice-President and secondly, after four years, should he be elected, he might find himself out of office.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 25. The most interesting contest before the Democratic State Con vention, which meets here to-morrow, was settied this afternoon by the withdrawal of Congressman T. C. McRae from the contest for National Committeeman, leaving ex-Gov. James P Clark a clear field. Clark has announced his candidacy for Senator Jones's seat in the Senate next year. SPECIAL OFFICERS MOBBED.

Fere Taking an Escaped Prisoner Back to the House of Refuge-Cop Rescues Thom.

Four special officers from the House of Refuge on Randall's Island rowed to Manhattan last night, landing at the foot of East 122nd street. They had heard that James Collis, 17 years old, who had escaped from the institution three months ago by swimming the river, was living with relatives in East 124th street between First and Pleasant avenues. Two of the officers remained to watch the row boat, and the other

They found Collis all right, but it was another matter to get him out of the house. The officers drew their revolvers and managed to get the boy out of the house. Then two women ran into the street and screamed that young Collis was being abducted, and that the officers had no warrant to take them. The people poured out of the neighboring houses and began to pursue the officers and their prisoner. Collis was retarding them as much as he could, and when the mob began to hurl stones both officers were hit. They sought shelter at last in the hall of 2407 First avenue and closed the door behind them. The mob stayed outside veiling and dared them to come out and be licked. The officers kept a firm hold on young Collis and discreetly declined the invitation. Policeman Brady came up on a run on hearing the mob yelling. He pulled his pistol and announced to the crowd that anybody who dared to lay hands on him or the officers with Collis would be shot, and that he would shoot to kill. This cowed the mob until Brady had got the three on their way to the boat again. Then the crowd followed throwing stones and anything else that was handy. Brady remained with the officers until they got to the boat and saw the men start back to Randali's Island with their prisoner. Then he dispersed the crowd and reported at his station. The people poured out of the

To provide for the expenses of the trip they had soo That night they hid in the scenery car of a train in the yards of the Erie railroad and rode to Jamestown, N. Y., before they were discovered. Thereafter riding by turns on the brakes and bumpers of freight cars, the cowcatchers of engines, and the forward platforms of baggage cars they reached Jersey City on the morning of May 8. A 5 tip to an employee of the Atlantic Transport Line gained them the opportunity to work their passage across on the steamship Minneapolis. They arrived in London on the evening of the celebration of the fall of Pretoria.

After seeing some of the sights of London they bought cheap round trip tickets for Paris add spentsix days doing the fair. When their money ran low they returned to London and asked permission to work their passage back to New York on the Minneapolis. This the steamship people refused and the young fellows stowed themselves away on board her, arriving here last Sunday. MAYOR HARRISON'S BOOM.

An Attempt to Nominate Him for Governor Likely to Be Made To-day.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 25 .- There is every ndication to-night that Carter Henry Harrison Mayor of Chicago, is to be boomed in to morrow's Democratic State Convention. Mayor Harrisen for two years has insisted that under no circumstances would be become a candidate for Governor. He has even gone so far as to say that were the nomination presented to him on a silver platter by a unanimous vote he on a silver piatter by a unanimous vote he would refuse it.

For several months past he has worked early and late to boost the boom of Adam Ortselfen, a Chicago brewer, with so much success that the Cook county delegation, 382 votes strong, is pledged to vote for Ootselfen. But Ortselfen hasn't a vote outside Cook county. Without outside aid he can't hope to be elected. Alschuler of Aurora and Orendorf of this city are as badly off as is the Cook county man.

A compromise candidate is already being talked of, and to-night Harrison's is the only name mentioned. Though Robert Emmert Burke, his chief lieutenant, insisted that Harrison will not become a candidate, it is well known that the convention hall will be packed with Harrison shouters to-morrow, with the intention of forcing a stampede to Harrison when the right time comes.

Shepherd Has Passed Eleven Examinations is

ROSTON June 25 - Hugh L. Shepherd of the senior law class at Harvard has broken all records for taking examinations. He has passed eleven examinations in law during June, Last year Shepherd fell ill and could not need So he was compelled to double up his work this year, in addition to taking an examination in nternational law in order to obtain his degre of A. B. from the academic department. But he has endured the strain well, for he stands fourth in the list of strong men of Harvard. The ordinary student is required to take examinations in five courses a year, and under the strain of five examinations there are men every year who break down. The best previous record was the taking of ten examinations. Shepherd is a big, strapping Westerner from Kentucky, Mo., and says that he does not feel the effects of the strain. He is now 25 years old. Up to his seventeenth year he did not go to school, but was employed as a farm hand out West. of A. B. from the academic department. But

Miss Gould wore a white gown, relieved by a pale purple sash, the college color. She was assisted in receiving by President Hazard, Miss Hannah Hume, president of the senior class, and Miss Catherine Coman, dean of Wellesley College.

At 4:30 the seniors presented on an adjacent lawn the fantastic galeties of their ceremony, known as the "repetition of the tree day dance." This was also attended by Miss Gould.

DROUGHT IN DELAWARE COUNTY. No Rain in Three Weeks-Springs and Breek

Have Run Dry.

HOBART. N. Y., June 25 .- No rain has falle in Delaware County in three weeks, and the drouth is assuming serious proportions. The water reservoirs of several villages have given out and the people are depending entirely upon out and the people are depending entirely upon wells and disterns for water for household use. The springs and brooks have run dry, and in some places the farmers are drawing water three miles in barrels to water their cows and horses. Gardens and all vegetation are withering for want of moisture, and farmers are greatly alarmed over the hav crop. The grass on the meadows is thin and short, and has become dry and lifeless.

The forest worm is working overtime, and in spots where the sun does not get through the worms are working havoc. The trees in hundreds of maple sugar camps have been entirely denuded of their leaves by these pests, and the limbs are as bare as in winter.

Loss of Life and Much Damage to Propert

in Oklahoma. PERRY, Oklahoma, June 25 .- A very destruction tive tornado passed over Beaver county, Oklanoma, last night. Henry Bardwell, Steve Bird and Abe Wrightman were killed and William Hamberger and Paul Rhodes mortally injured. The storm swept the country for sixty miles. Thousands of cattle were stampeded and many killed and injured. Several houses were destroyed. The home of George Nebb, a ranchman, was carried 200 yards, and several ranchmen who were taking refuge in the house were injured.

Neminations Ratified in the First Assembly

REPUBLICAN TICKET INDORSED THERE WITH ENTHUSIASM.

District-Squabble Over Naming Delegates to City and County Committees-Col. Dady Accused of Packing the Meeting. The Republicans of the First Assembly dis-Brooklyn ratified the nomination of McKinley and Roosevelt last night with great enthusiasm, the name of each candidate being cheered again and again. There is a clash however, between the rival factional forces in the district, which are marshalled under the respective leaderships of Col. Michael J. Dady and State Committeeman R. Ross Appleton.

Notices had been sent out, as Col. Dady averred. o each of the 3,112 enrolled Republicans of the district, giving not only notification of the ratification, meeting but also of the purpose to make up a ticket for delegates to the City and County committees which are to be chosen in August The supporters of Mr. Appleton, who is disputing the control of the district with Col. Dady, strenuously objected to the introduction of a factional dispute at a ratification meeting and accused the Dadyites of packing the meeting so as to have a "snap" ticket made up. The meeting was held in the Atheneum at Atlantic avenue and Clinton street, and of the 3,112 enrolled Republicans of the district about 400 were present, the vast majority of whom were Dady's steadfast Third warders. Mr. Appleton was not present, but a score or more of his First ward followers were and they made things lively for a hot night.

were and they made things lively for a hot night.

It was clear from the start that a row was inevitable if the daily programme was carried out, and in the interest of harmony S. B. Chittenden and others tried hard to have the proceedings confined to the ratification of the work of the Philadelphia Convention, but Col. Dady insisted that the ticket for the City and County committees should be made up. There was two hot skirmishes, the ratification proceedings being sandwiched between them.

Col. Dady mounted the platform at the start and declared that there had been no purpose to have a snap judgment in reference to the choice of the delegates. Mr. Sanfor i moved that they proceed to nominate the ticket. John Duryes interposeed an emphatic objection and moved to lay the resolution on the table. Thomas O'Neil seconded the motion and said to Col. Dady:

Duryea interposed an emphatic objection and moved to lay the resolution on the table. Thomas O'Neil seconded the motion and said to Col. Dady:

"You will not force this upon us. You are making a tremendous mistake and will suffer for it later. It is unfair and indecent to use this ratification meeting to accomplish a partisan purpose, and I denounce it as against the wishes of the voters in the First ward.

There was great uproar during the discussion, which ended by an overwhelming vote in favor of making the ticket an indorsement of the Dady tactics.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing the candidates for President and Vice President, and former Congressman S. V. White made a rousing speech in support of the ticket. He said that President McKinley had redeemed every pledge and promise made or suggested in the campaign of 1886 and that the world in all its history has not seen anything to compare with the national greatness and prosperity which have marked his Administration.

After several others had spoken Col. Dady again took charge of the meeting and in an impassioned speech lashed his factional opponents and glorified his own political management. He was interrupted by Mr. O'Neil with the declaration twice repeated: "We have too much Dady." This provoked another uproar, in the midst of which Mr. O'Neil took his departure. He was followed to the stairway by half a dozen of Dady's partisans and bitterly denounced on his way to the street.

A ticket of the delegates to the City and County committees was then made up. All the men selected are friends of Dady.

The new house of the Ocean Hill Republican Club at 1108 Herkimer street, Brooklyn, was formally opened last night. President Samuel Gibson presided and addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. B. Butler Platt, N. Frank Blake, Register James R. Howe, the Rev. Dr. A. Stewart Walsh and others. Subsequently resolutions indorsing the nominations of McKinley and cheers were given for the candidates.

The New York Juvenile Asylum has been diected by Justice Lawrence of the Supreme Court to return to Giuseppe Billotti his three hildren, who, the asylum admits, have passed beyond its control, so that it cannot return beyond its control, so that it cannot return them. Unless the asylum finds some way out of its dilemma, counsel for Billotti say its offi-cers will have to face proceedings for contemmt and for damages. Billotti surrendered his chil-dren into the care of the asylum on Sept. 13, 1897, for a term of two years, and the society apprenticed them in Illinois until they should be 18, which will be in 1907 in the case of the youngest. The respondent explained to the court that

The respondent explained to the court that the people who now have the children have refused to surrender them, holding that under the contracts and the statute of Illinois the children cannot be taken from them until the ages stated. The Court says that although the children are beyond the jurisdiction of our courts the respondent is within the jurisdiction, and it cannot shelter itself from its own wrongdoing by taking the posision that it has passed the children beyond its control.

POUGHT A DUEL ON HORSEBACK. One Man Had a Knife and Was Killed by His Opponent, Who Had a Pistol.

VANDALIA, Ill, June 25.-News has been received here from Loudon township of the kill-ing of Munroe Tipsward by Willis Lilly, ing of Munroe Tipsward by Willis Lilly, his brother-in-law. It was a fight on horse-back. Both men were riding at breakneck speed, Tipsward following close behind Lilly, and slashing him with a knife whenever he was able to reach him. Lilly dashed ahead of Tipsward and when a few feet away drew a revolver and fired. The bail entered Tipsward's head and he fell from his horse dead. The murder was the culmination of a family quarrel which has existed for several years. YALE FACULTY CHANGES.

HOAR IS FOR M'KINLEY.

COMES OUT IN SUPPORT OF THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

He Belleves Mr. McKinley's Re-eleessary to the Prosperity of the Country and Would Trust the Philippine Question to Republicans Rather Than Democrats BOSTON, June25 .- Senator George F. Hoar has een interviewed in regard to the coming campaign. He declares his allegiance to the Republican party and its candidates and says ne is willing to trust the cause of liberty in the Philippine Islands, the only point on which he disagrees with the Administration, to President McKinley and the Republican party rather than to Mr. Bryan, Tammany and the South.

Mr. Hoar said: "President McKinley and Gov. Roosevelt will have no more earnest supporter in the country than I shall be, whether we consider the character of the candidates, the character of the counsellors they will bring with them into power, the effect on the prosperity and happiness of the American people, or the ultimate triumph of liberty and justice in the distant islands which have been brought under our control. The alternative of Mr. Bryan and Mr. David B. Hill, or any other associate the Democratic party is likely to give him, is not to be thought of for a moment.

"Mr. Bryan's election will overthrow the protective system now happily established and the wonderful prosperity it has brought to all classes of the people and will mean a disturbed and fluctuating currency, great diminution of value of all debts and savings, the overthrow of the authority of the Supreme Court, a danger-ous attack on property, socialism and the com-plete success of the attempt now going on to disfranchise 10,000,000 American citizens at home and will render null and void the great Constitutional amendments.

home and will render null and void the great Constitutional amendments.

"I was and am still opposed to the policy which brought on the war in the Philippine Islands. I like the policy which has been and is to be pursued in Cuba. I am willing now to test the two methods by their results. But I have never questioned the honesty of purpose of President McKinley and the Republican leaders who agreed with him. The past cannot be undone. I think the future of President McKinley than of Mr. Bryan, in the hands of the Philippine Islands safer in the hands of President McKinley than of Mr. Bryan, in the hands of the Republican party than of Tammany Hall and the solid South. In saying this I am but repeating what I said in the Senate and what I said last year in Massachusetts. Mr. Bryan earnestly advocated the treaty which bought the Philippine Islands and secured for it the votes of seventeen of his supporters. For this action of his no motive can reasonably be assigned but the desire to keep the question for an issue in the compaign.

be assigned but the desire to keep the question for an issue in the compaism.

"The Republican party in its platform has refused to commit itself to keeping the Philippine people in subjection against their will and cites the example of Cuba, to which it renews its pledge of independence. The Massachusetts Republican platform of 1889 promises them after hostilities are over a government as free, as liberal and as progressive as our own. I believe these pledges will be kept. Whatever mistake may have been made in the past, I prefer to trust the future of liberty to the party that for fifty years has never gone wrong but once rather than to the party that for sixty years has never been right once. the party that for sixty years has never been right once.

Does any one believe that the American people have changed: that the great North has changed; that the Republican party has changed in a minute, in a day, in the twinkling of an eye? Liberty is not dead. Justice is not dead. The great Declaration is not dead. Men will differ. Good men will sometimes err. Parties are not infallible. But I am confident that the great free North, which achieved and established liberty at home, will surely and very soon establish it abroad.

"At the very threshold of your experience, as you are entering upon your profession, you find that the Supreme Court of the United States will decide what shall be the final outcome of the war with Spain. If that court should decide that the Constitution of the United States extended of its own vigor into the far-off territory of the United States, both parties will be as anxious to get rid of the Philippine Islands as one party is anxious to get rid of them now. Islands as one party is anxious to get rid of them now.

"Politicians and statesmen may suggest the disposition of the Philippines. The court will decide what that disposition shall be. Now conceive for a moment what the ultimate effect of that decision is. It will be not merely the disposition of the Philippines or Porto Rico, but it will be the attitude of the United States toward the whole world for all time to come. If the court shall decide that the Constitution does not extend and that Congress may set up the government that it chooses in any country or territory, it is difficult to conceive what kind of a government we may have.

"The right of United States to take territory is conceded; nobody disputes that. I think it is the hope of every American that Canada will soon be incorporated into the territory of United States. The acquisition of Mexico is not an improbability or South America an impossibility. Why the annexation of China is not as fanciful a suggestion now as the annexation of the Philippines would have been three years ago. In point of fact with this talking of the partition of China and the disposition of the great nations to demand a slice—always of course in the interests of 'the white man's burden'—the acquisition of a part, if not all of China may be a burning question tweive months hence."

The AEOLIAN

HE AEOLIAN is a home orchestra requiring no musical knowledge whatever, yet sensitive and responsive to the taste and temperament of the performer.

The Acolian and the Pianola are ideal instruments for the Summer Home, for they bring to these retreats any music you desire to hear at any time.

Aeolians from $75 to $2,500.

JEAN DE RESZKE writes:

"The Aeolian places the best music at the doors of all and affords a simple means of enjoying and studying the conceptions of the masters of music, ancient and modern. The Aeolian is so cleverly constructed that if the performer can grasp the inspiration of the composer, the instrument affords him every facility for interpreting the music with feeling."

HOW OUR MEN AREFIGHTING

nsurgents Have Suffered Heavy Losses in

A PEW SAMPLES OF THE RECENT EN. GAGEMENTS IN THE PRILIPPINES.

Fights With Small Detachments of Americans-Many Rifles and Much Ammunition Captured-End of Fighting Seems Near. Manila, May 19 .- Everybody at headquarters in Manila says that the war is over. The nsurgents are utterly unable to concentrate any force anywhere, or if they should happen to get any considerable body of men together Americans in very short order. Just to show how exact a description of the state of affairs this is here are a few incidents that have happened in different parts of the archipelago so within the week. Near Carigara, on the north coast of the island of Leyte, Company I of the the Twenty-third attacked a bunch of insurgents who were in an old stone church. The fight did not last long, and after the Americans had attended to their eleven wounded, which included Lieut. MacNab, they buried a hundred and a few of the dead the insurgents had been unable to

recently that news of them has come to Manila

Major Gilmore of the Forty-third, whose battalion is garrisoning the north end of the island of Saunar, started out with a hundred men to punish the band of insurgents which had killed nineteen of his men at Catubig. The insurgents were too much puffed up by that success. They got together about seven hundred men, and having warning of the road by which Gilmore was coming, undertook to ambush him. But his scoute discovered the trapand the insurgents were the ones caught. The ambush was laid about a bridge, rife men being concealed on one end and bolomen at the other. Gilmore sent detachments to cross above and below the bridge and penned up the insurgents. The men were a little bit hard to hold because of the recollection of the affair at Catubig. They buried 20e of the insurgents on the spot where it had been intended that they should be ambushed themselves. One American got a cut in the back. That was all our loss.

The insurgents had ringed their hills with three lines of trenches. They had about three hundred good rifies. When our men got close to their trenches the insurgents ran back to the second line. It was so steep that our men were compelled to crawl on all fours to get up. Two of them were hit in the back from above while going up in this fashion. The insurgents threw stones and gave several of our men severe wounds in the head with them, being better stone throwers than rifie shots. Finally the column Andrews was leading personally got to the top of one of the hills and the insurgents had to run for it. They never make much success at that, when all our men have to do is to stand still and shoot. Mojica got away, but he left sixty-six dead, whom the fugitives were unable to carry away. The next day he sent in six Americans whom he had been holding prisoners. They were prospectors whom he had captured last fall. They said his loss had been wounded.

Then Major Andrews went down the coast to Hilongos and tackled another bunch of insurgents. The gunboat Pampanga bore a hand. We had four men wounded in this little encounter, and only seventy-four insurgents were buried after it was over. They lost also seventy-one prisoners, twenty-one of whom were badly wounded, two breech-loading cannon, five old brass guns and a fine bunch of rifles. When Andrews got down to Massin, the next town, the insurgents fled without waiting to test the ability of his men.

Col. Hardin, with three companies of his Twenty-ninth Volunteers, took the town of Palanco, on the Island of Mashate, after a brief resistance. The gunboat Helena assisted. The trouble lasted only about half an hour. The insurgents left twenty-nine dead and twenty-two wounded in their trenches. We had no one hurt. We got a few rifles and a lot of armunition.

The Americans have been capturing guns as well as killing those who attempted to use them. Up in Nueva Ecija, just the other day, Lieut. Draper took nine men of the Twenty-second and after a night march surprised the guerrilla Garciana Garcia, who had thirty men, wounding Garcia himself, killing some of his men, wounding others and capturing twenty-nine of their thirty guns.

Near San Ildefonso, in Bulacan, some of Gen. Grant's men got forty rifies, a big box of bolos and several thousand pounds of ammunition.

Within two miles of Silan, in Cavite Province, Capt. O'Connor, Forty-sixth, got a rebel arsenal. 120 rifies, 800 Hotchkiss one-pounder shells. 50,000 rounds of Mauser cartridges and 46,000 empty Mauser shells, 250 pounds of smokeless powder, 500 pounds of black powder and a lot of materials for making more.

A detachment of the Fourteenth, making a search in one of the suburbs of Manila day before yesterday, found two rifies and 17 bolos in a nipa hut, but the owner of the hut got away. Lieut, Simmons of the Forty-first captured at San Isidro, near Bacolor, fifteen rifies and a big box of ammunition.

Yesterday's military train brought down from Tarlac 170 rifles and a fluge box full of bolos and ammunition captured by the Ninth Infantry in the last few days.

A few days ago one of the guards from the Twentieth, walking along Calle San Jacinto, near the Post Office, noticed two Filipinos going from house to house along the street and talking with the natives in a way which excited his suspicions. He followed them and after a while saw them making entries in a note book after each visit. Finally he concluded that they were levying subscriptions, and he arrested them. His suspicions turned out to be well founded. The chief of the two was the insurgent General Dumangtay, whose commission was found in his hat. Other papers on him showed that he was supposed to be in command somewhere in Bulacan. The other was Aquilino de la Cruz, his adjutant. They had a list of sixty names of natives with indications after some of them of the amounts that had been subscribed.
